PREFACE

This is the 25th annual edition of the “Seton Hall University Fact Book”. It is intended to serve the routine statistical and informational needs of faculty, administration, staff, and alumni. The Institutional Research Office has attempted to offer relevant information on the principal characteristics and strengths of Seton Hall University. In all areas, we have attempted to gather the current and most accurate data available. Please notify the Institutional Research Office if you are aware of any factual errors.

You are encouraged to offer comments and suggestions for improvement of future editions and the expansion of reporting areas.

Appreciation is extended to the many offices that have assisted in the research necessary for compiling this Fact Book.

THE UNIVERSITY

MISSION STATEMENT

Seton Hall is a major Catholic university. In a diverse and a collaborative environment it focuses on academic excellence and ethical development. Seton Hall students are prepared to be leaders in their professional and community lives in a global society and are challenged by outstanding faculty, an evolving technologically advanced setting and values-centered curricula.

As approved by the Seton Hall University Board of Regents, June 6, 1996.

STRATEGIC DIRECTIONS FROM SETON HALL'S STRATEGIC PLAN 2020 "FROM STRENGTH TO STRENGTH"

"From Strength to Strength" will move the University in six strategic directions to advance our mission to the year 2020 and beyond. It invites and encourages members of the Seton Hall community to discover and build upon the riches and resources of the Catholic intellectual tradition and to form servant leaders for a global society with increased vigor and commitment.

BIOGRAPHY OF MOTHER SETON

(1774 – 1821)

Elizabeth Ann Bayley was born August 28, 1774 in New York City. Her father, Dr. Richard Bayley, was a prominent physician and surgeon and the first Health Officer in New York City. Her mother, Catherine Charlton Bayley, the daughter of an Episcopal minister, died May 8, 1777 leaving three children, Mary (7), Elizabeth (2), and an infant, Catherine, who died two years later. Dr. Richard Bayley died of yellow fever in 1801.

A year after his wife died, Dr. Richard Bayley married Charlotte Amelia Barclay. They had four children. Mary and Elizabeth spent their summers with their Uncle William Bayley at the Pell Bayley House in New Rochelle, New York.

Elizabeth Bayley married William Magee Seton, a wealthy shipping magnate on January 25, 1794. They had five children: Anna Maria (May 3, 1795); William (November 25, 1796); Richard (July 20, 1798); Catherine (June 28, 1800); and Rebecca (August 20, 1802).

William Magee Seton suffered financial ruin and died of tuberculosis December 27, 1803 in Italy leaving Elizabeth a poor young widow with five small children.

Anna Maria, the eldest daughter, at 8 years of age, went to Italy with her parents where her ailing father died. She became affectionately called Annina by her mother. Anna Maria, as her father, died of tuberculosis March 12, 1812.

Elizabeth Seton, raised in the Episcopal Church, converted to Catholicism. She received her first Holy Communion in March 25, 1805. To raise and educate her own children, she became a teacher and wanted all children, boys and girls, to receive free education. At the Pace Street House in Baltimore she founded her first Catholic school.

On March 25, 1809 Elizabeth Seton pronounced vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. Henceforth, she became known as Mother Seton. She began the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph on July 31, 1809 at the Stone House in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

Mother Seton established St. Joseph's Academy, the first Catholic parochial school in the United States.

Elizabeth Seton died of tuberculosis on January 4, 1821 at the age of 47. Her remains are sealed in the Basilica of St. Elizabeth Ann Seton in Emmitsburg, Maryland.

In September 1975, Elizabeth Seton became the first native-born American to be canonized as a saint. A tapestry bearing her image hung over the entrance to St. Peter's Basilica in Rome.

BRIEF HISTORY

Seton Hall University was founded in 1856 by Bishop James Roosevelt Bayley, the first bishop of Newark, who named it after his aunt, Elizabeth Ann Seton, a pioneer in Catholic education and the first American-born saint. The University is the oldest diocesan university in the United States. Nestled on 58 acres in the suburban village of South Orange, New Jersey, Seton Hall's campus is home to eight schools and colleges: the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Education and Human Services, the College of Nursing, the John C. Whitehead School of Diplomacy and International Relations, the School Health and Medical Sciences, the Stillman School of Business, and Immaculate Conception Seminary School of Theology. Seton Hall's eighth school, the School of Law, is located in Newark, New Jersey. The Division of Continuing Education and Professional Studies is located on the South Orange campus.

From its original enrollment of a handful of students, Seton Hall grew rapidly. During its first 12 years, the College enrolled more than 500 freshmen from 17 states and six foreign countries. Seton Hall always has reflected the growing ethnic scope of its students and the increasing diversity of the Church and society it has served. In the 19th century, in spite of setbacks, major fires, lean times and the Civil War, the College continued to expand. By 1937, Seton Hall established a University College. This marked the first matriculation of women at Seton Hall. The University became fully coeducational in 1968.

The years after World War II witnessed unprecedented growth for Seton Hall as it responded to the needs of thousands of veterans seeking higher education. The College was organized into a university in 1950, comprising the College of Arts and Sciences and the schools of Business, Nursing and Education. The School of Law opened its doors in 1951 and the John C. Whitehead School of Diplomacy and International Relations was established in 1997, and formally named in 2002.

The next two decades saw the construction and modernization of a large number of facilities and the construction of the library, science building, residence halls and the University Center. Many new programs and majors were inaugurated, as were important social outreach efforts. New ties were established with the private and industrial sectors, and a growing partnership developed with federal and state governments in creating programs for the economically and educationally disadvantaged.

The 1970s and 1980s continued to be a time of growth and renewal. New business and nursing classroom buildings and an art center were opened. In 1984, Immaculate Conception Seminary returned to Seton Hall, its original home until 1927, when it moved to Darlington. With construction of four new residence halls between 1986-1988, and the purchase of off-campus apartment buildings in 1990 and 2004, Seton Hall now provides living space for approximately 2,100 students.

The physical development of the campus continued. In 1994, construction was completed on the $20 million, four-story Walsh Library. In 1997, Seton Hall moved its College of Education and Human Services, Stillman School of Business, Center for Public Service, and the Departments of Sociology and Anthropology, Psychology, and Political Science into Jubilee Hall. The Science and Technology Center opened in Fall 2007. This state of the art facility houses the departments of Biological Studies, Chemistry and Biochemistry, Mathematics and Computer Science, and Physics.

When the Sesquicentennial of Seton Hall was observed in 2006, we looked back on the prophetic concluding words from the 1956 centenary history of the University: "Seton Hall University's great boast and claim to fame is not predicated on expansion, buildings or even curriculum. It lies rather in the hearts and minds of a dedicated and devoted faculty." Seton Hall's history has been one primarily of people: students and faculty living and working together in a community of learning, a community rooted in a Catholic tradition that is a home for the mind, the heart and the spirit.

^{*} Note: "Adjusted Freshman Cohort" excludes deceased students where death occurred during matriculation, or students determined not to have entered as full-time freshmen after census date reporting. The appropriate adjustments were made to the entering class size.

[†] Note: The attrition rates in the table are the number of entering fall freshmen who were not enrolled in the next fall semester.

[‡] Note: Beginning with the entering Fall 2006 class, the special admits category includes Seton Summer Scholars.

[§] Note: The breakdowns "By Resident Status" is based on the student's entering status and is kept at that value.

^{} Note: "By Entering College" breakdowns may exclude students who switched between majors in their first semester, as well as students who switched between status undeclared and a major before or during their first semester.

^{††} Note: The Arts & Sciences breakdowns include, in addition to students admitted to A&S majors, all students admitted with status "undeclared". Status "undeclared" applies both to students not admitted to their major of choice and to students undecided as to choice of major.

^{‡‡} Source: Data compiled from information contained on the university's registration files on the Student Information System (SIS) and Banner.

NSSE DASHBOARDS

National Survey of Student Engagement 12-year Review

NSSE: Seton Hall has participated annually in the national assessment project known as NSSE (pronounced “nessie”) referring to the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE), for twelve years. The survey, as designed by George Kuh and colleagues at the University of Indiana, asks students to quantify their participation in, or extent they have had opportunity to participate in, active and collaborative learning environments that challenge and convey high expectations. Students responding to the NSSE characterize and quantify ways and frequency that courses they have taken at SHU use pedagogy and practices known to lead to deeper learning. The instructional practices and designs enquired about in the NSSE follow from evidence of improved learning in environments enriched with these features, from the research literature. Rather than asking respondents to make subjective ratings or decide agreement with satisfaction statements, students are asked to characterize the frequency with which they encounter concrete features in their own academic environments or the extent to which they personally participate in activities or behaviors attendant.

Because the project attracts a wide participation by other institutions each year, Seton Hall’s NSSE results can be calibrated against national reference values. These reference values give the University a means of identifying and monitoring both challenges and successes connecting to the University’s continuing efforts to support and foster proven instructional practices.

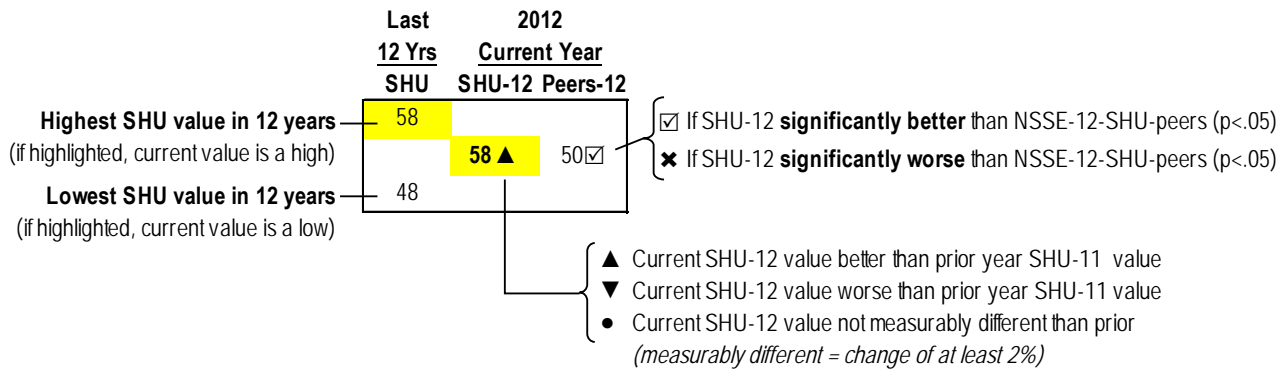

To summarize, among the benefits of participation in the NSSE study are these: 1. The survey is comprised of behavioral metrics rather than satisfaction ratings; and 2. The study is nationally conducted and results are calibrated. These two features render the NSSE data meaningful, interpretable, and applicable for SHU.

2012 SURVEY: The NSSE survey conducted within the period of focus for SHU’s Fact Book 2012-13 is that administered nationally and at Seton Hall in the Spring of 2012. During that administration a total of 577 institutions participated in the national study. Among these twenty-three were in the same university category (Carnegie, Basic 2010) as Seton Hall. The average response rates for institutions in SHU’s Carnegie category was 18% for first year students and 23% for seniors; or 21% overall. At Seton Hall, the response rates were 25% and 21% for first-year and senior students, respectively; together the rate was 23%.

RESULTS: NSSE targets two student populations: first-year students and seniors. Therefore NSSE data must be reviewed and calibrated against reference values which are reported within, not across, these two different undergraduate populations. For each population, NSSE uses a subset of survey questions to combine student responses into 5 broad themes referred to by NSSE as benchmarks (‘benchmarks of Effective Educational Practices’). The dashboard displays that follow here present a selection of Seton Hall’s results, one dashboard for each group surveyed (first-year students and seniors), each framed by the five NSSE benchmarks. While for reasons of space and readability, not every question used to calculate a NSSE benchmark is included among the questions displayed in the dashboard, framing every question that is included inside one of the five clear benchmark headings ensures balanced presentation of Seton Hall results. Further, SHU enables the ability to use NSSE dashboards as valid monitoring tools by keeping constant the subset of individual questions accompanying each benchmark score. These subsets have in fact been kept constant since 2006, the year SHU designed and began using NSSE dashboards to balance and interpret SHU NSSE results. The subset selections made in 2006 by design used a systematic and unbiased approach to generate an equal mix of challenges, strengths, and in-betweens (items for which SHU’s results proved neither high nor low). Dashboards by necessity are limited to 25 individual item results.

FORMAT: Review of trend indicators in dashboard cells provides succinct synopsis of where SHU stands relative to two potentially different, both important, types of reference levels – the first: SHU relative to itself, i.e. to its own historical data over the entire 12 year period of participation; and the second: SHU relative to Carnegie peers, i.e. to averages reported by NSSE across institutions both in Seton Hall’s same classification category according to Carnegie Basic 2010, and, participants in NSSE in Spring 2012. When reviewing the dashboard pages that follow in this Fact Book, readers are encouraged to consult the legend page as it presents a detailed “key” with full explanation of the Seton Hall NSSE dashboard cells.

NSSE DASHBOARD KEY

"Peer" values are averages calculated across the set of Carnegie (2005 Basic category) doctoral peer universities that participated in NSSE in Spring 2012 (listing by name of institutions available from Office of Institutional Research).

FALL 2012 EMPLOYEES

Full-time Employees

Part-time Employees

* , †, ‡, §, **

[†] Note: Employees are accounted for in one and only one position. Anyone engaged in two or more activities is only reported at his primary position.

[†] Note: The following racial categories were used: Non-Resident Alien (NRA), American Indian or Alaska Native (AI), Asian (As), Black or African American (B), Hispanic/Latino (H), Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander (PI), White (W), Two or more races (2+), and Unknown (U). A Non-Resident Alien is a person who is NOT a citizen of the United States and does NOT hold a permanent residence card.

[‡] Note: Excluded from the report are employees whose services are donated or contributed, in particular priests.

[§] Note: Beginning in 2012, new occupational categories replaced the occupational activities previously used in IPEDS reporting. The change was required to align IPEDS categories with the 2010 Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system. Below are descriptions for each of the occupational categories:

- Postsec Teachers - persons whose primary responsibilities are for the purpose of conducting instruction, research and/or public service.
- Archivist/Curators/Museum - appraise, edit, and safekeeping of permanent records and historical documents; administer collectible or historical collections; restore, maintain, or prepare objects in museum collections for storage, research, or exhibit
- Librarians - administer libraries and perform related library services; tasks may include selecting, acquiring, cataloguing, classifying, circulating, and maintaining library materials
- Library Technicians - assist librarians by helping readers in the use of library catalogs, databases, and indexes to locate books and other materials; compile records; sort and shelve books or other media; check materials in and out of the circulation process.
- Other Instr Support - all education workers not listed separately in the other categories.
- Management - top executives; managers; and education administrators.
- Business/Financial - business operations specialists (such as purchasing agents, compliance officers, human resource workers, fundraisers, market analysts) and financial specialists (such as accountants, auditors, budget analysts, loan officers and tax specialists).
- Computer/Eng/Science - computer specialists (analysts, software developers, database and system administrators, and network specialists); engineers (architects, engineers, drafters, and engineering technicians);
- Comm/Legal/Arts/Media - community and social service occupations (such as counselors, social workers, and religious workers); legal occupations (lawyers, paralegals, and legal assistants); along with various arts, entertainment, sports and media occupations.
- Healthcare Pract & Tech - occupations such as dentists, physicians, nurses, laboratory technicians, and athletic trainers.
- Service Occupations - healthcare support occupations (such as therapists, medical assistants, and psychiatrists); protective services (such as security guards); as well as building, grounds cleaning and maintenance occupations (janitors, landscapers, and groundskeepers).
- Office & Admin Support - occupations such as secretaries, administrative assistants, switchboard operators, financial clerks, record clerks, postal workers, data entry keyers, and computer operators.
- Natural Res/Const/Maint - construction occupations (carpenters, masons, electricians, painters, plumbers, and their assistants) as well as installation and repair occupations (heating, air conditioning and refrigeration mechanics, equipment repairers and mechanics)
- Product'n/Transport/Moving - occupations such as metal workers, printers, and transportation workers.
- Graduate Assistants - graduate students who assist with either teaching (instruction, preparing exams, grading), research, or office duties.

^{*} Note: Beginning in the 2007-08 academic year, flat-rate tuition was charged. Flat-rate tuition covers 12 to 18 credits each semester. A per credit rate was charged prior to the 2007-08 academic year. The annual tuition amounts shown above prior to the 2007-08 academic year are based on a 30 credit hour load.

[†] Note: Beginning in the 2008-09 academic year a two-tier flat-rate was established. Students who entered in the Fall 2008 term were charged a different rate than those who entered prior to Fall 2008. The amounts shown above for academic years 2008-09 through 2011-12 are based on the rates for students that entered Fall 2008 or later.

[‡] Note: Required fees include the university fee for full-time undergraduate students and the mobile computing fee. The one-time orientation fee is not included.
